Phila Dec. 31/52

My dear friend:

I thank you most heartily for the volume of your writings you have been kind enough to present to me. It is a valuable gift in itself and is doubly prized by me as an account by the giver.

It affords me much gratification to the various persons for whom they have intended the other copies which you sent to my care. The ordinary 12 copies I put to your credit as an sale.

Our cause is in a very promising position just now. The clouds are dissipated & the sun shine has come again. Mere Treason trials have been a great windfall to us, and just now the advent of Kossuth is doing great things for us. The anti-slavery tendency of this circumstance is universally felt here — by our opponents as well as by our friends.

Accompanying this you will find a letter from me on another subject to which I should like to have a re-by at your earliest convenience.

Yours truly
